Revealing architecture

In 2015, the Arab Center for Architecture is organizing a program to raise awareness on urban and architectural modern heritage in Lebanon.

This project targets students, instructors and decision makers as much as tour operators, urban planners and architects.

It aims at disseminating knowledge for a better understanding of our built environment.

This year, ACA would like to engage in activities with the general public and to initiate a platform for discussion and thinking about the modern built heritage.

DISCOVER

An educational kit for junior high-school students will be developed through a workshop before being distributed to the instructors.

VISIT

One guided tour is offered each month by urban and heritage professionals. The twelve visits will explore new perspectives to several neighbourhoods and sites in Beirut and elsewhere.

Guides

Liliane Barakat, Mira Minkara, Arpi Mangassarlian, Najji Assi, Elie Harfouche, George Arbid, Léon Telvizian, Maha Nasrallah, Mazen Haidar, Mona Hallak

Planning

January: Zokak el-Blat

February: Rachid Karami Fair, Tripoli / Mina

March: Bourj Hammoud

April: Badaro

May: Yarzé / Hadet

June: Mar Mikhael

July: Anjar / Rayak

August: Ras Beirut / Corniche

September: Hamra / AUB

October: Sanayeh

November: From Beit Beirut to the National Museum

December: Ras el Nabeh

A leaflet mapping modern architecture in Beirut will also be available in print at the center by fall.

DEBATE

Every two months ACA is hosting a discussion open to students, architects and the large public. Two generations of architects will be invited to discuss the evolution of architecture in Lebanon.
